"Design is a funny word. Some people think design means how it looks. But of course, if you dig deeper it's really how it works." -Steve Jobs

Modern & Kid-Friendly Kitchen

Like many Cleveland Park homes, this one had a galley kitchen that was small and dark and an enclosed back porch. A new kitchen connects to the dining area in an open plan and re-aligns and centers the home. The design reflects the clients' desire for a durable and child-friendly space, and it feels bigger, though the home's footprint didn't change. Visit the kitchen portfolio on our website to read Modern and Family-Friendly Kitchen.

In the Works

We're completely redesigning a kitchen that was damaged in a flood. The new kitchen has an island and better lighting, and will have a pass-through to the dining area.

Chris Landis Joins Historic Review Board

The District's Mayor Muriel Bowser has nominated Chris Landis to a three year term on the Historic Preservation Review Board. The federally mandated 9 member board designates landmarks and districts, and reviews proposed construction for historic compatibility. "I look forward to applying my 27 years as an architect to aid homeowners in developing new construction that works in harmony with historic neighborhoods," Chris says. This will be a second stint for Chris...he served also from 2009 -2012.

Educational Field Trips

One of our core values is life-long learning and our team has been busy fulfilling this mission. Director of Architecture Paul Gaiser and Chris Landis attended an AIA conference about leadership in the architectural community. Chris and Ethan Landis attended the Remodeler's Advantage conference in Kansas City with remodelers from around the country. Ethan and deputy production manager Andrew Kerr toured Marvin Window's Minnesota factory. Chris attended day-long Contractor College, by supplier TW Perry.
